

CHILD SAFETY RESPONDING and REPORTING (Including Mandatory reporting) POLICY

1. Purpose

- 1.1 School staff have a duty of care to protect the safety, health and wellbeing of students in their care. Child abuse can have a significant effect on a child's physical or emotional health, development and wellbeing. Abuse includes: physical, sexual, emotional, neglect, medical neglect and family violence
- 1.2 The purpose of the Child Safety Responding and Mandatory Reporting policy is to:
- Define the roles and responsibilities of school staff in protecting the safety and wellbeing of students and young people
 - Enable staff to identify the indicators of a student or young person who has been, is being, or at risk of being abused
 - Enable staff to make a report of a child or young person who has been, is being, or at risk of being abused
 - Comply with reporting obligations under child protection law and criminal law.

2. Guidelines

2.1 Mandatory Reporting – DHHS Child Protection

Teachers registered to teach or who have permission to teach pursuant to the Education and Training Reform Act 2006 (Vic) as well as Principals of government and non-government schools are Mandatory Reporters

2.1.1 Mandatory reporters must make a report as soon as practicable if, in the course of practicing their profession or carrying out their duties, they form a belief on reasonable grounds that a child or young person is in need of protection, as a result of physical injury or sexual abuse, and the child's parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child

2.1.2 Non-mandated staff members (Administration, ES0 staff etc):

Section 183 of the CYFA states that any person who believes on reasonable grounds that a child is in need of protection may report their concerns to DHHS Child Protection.

2.2 Child in need of protection:

Any person may make a report if they believe on reasonable grounds that a child is in need of protection for any of the following reasons:

- The child has suffered or is likely to suffer emotional or psychological harm as a result of:
 - physical injury and their parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child
 - sexual abuse and their parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child
 - emotional or psychological harm and their parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child
- The child has been abandoned and there is no other suitable person who is willing and able to care for the child

- The child's parents are dead or incapacitated and there is no other suitable person who is willing and able to care for the child
- The child's physical development or health has been, or is likely to be significantly harmed and the parents are unable or unwilling to provide basic care, or effective medical or other remedial care

2.2.1 Child in need of therapeutic treatment: Any person may make a report if they believe on reasonable grounds that a child who is 10 years of age or over, but under 15 years of age, is in need of therapeutic treatment because he or she has exhibited sexually-abusive behaviours

2.2.2 Significant concerns about the wellbeing of a student are when any person may make a report to DHHS Child Protection or referring the family to Child First if they have significant concerns for the wellbeing of a child.

2.3 Reasonable belief that a sexual offence has been committed by an adult against a child under 16:

- Any adult who forms a reasonable belief that a sexual offence has been committed in Victoria by an adult against a child under 16 must report that information to police. Reasonable excuses for failing to comply with the requirement include:
 - A reasonable belief that the information has already been reported to police or DHHS Child Protection disclosing all of the information
 - A reasonable fear that the disclosure will place someone (other than the alleged perpetrator) at risk of harm

2.4 Forming a belief on reasonable grounds: A person may form a belief on reasonable grounds that a child is in need of protection after becoming aware that a child or young person's health, safety or wellbeing is at risk and the child's parents are unwilling or unable to protect the child. There may be reasonable grounds if:

- A student or young person states that they have been physically or sexually abused/or someone they know has been physically or sexually abused (sometimes the student may be talking about themselves)
- Someone who knows the student or young person states that the child or young person has been physically or sexually abused
- A child shows signs of being physically or sexually abused
- The staff member is aware of persistent family violence or parental substance misuse, psychiatric illness or intellectual disability that is impacting on the student or young person's safety, stability or development
- The staff member observes signs or indicators of abuse, including non-accidental or unexplained injury, persistent neglect, poor care or lack of appropriate supervision
- A child's actions or behaviour may place them at risk of significant harm and the child's parents are unwilling or unable to protect the student.

There are many indicators of child abuse and neglect. The presence of a single indicator or even several indicators, does not prove that abuse or neglect has occurred. However, the repeated occurrence of an indicator, or the occurrence of several indicators together should alert teachers to the possibility of child abuse and neglect.

- 3.8 Ensuring that a Child Protection interview takes place - the school does not have the power to prevent parents, carers or guardians from removing their children from the school and should not attempt to prevent the parents, carers, or guardians from collecting their child. If a parent, carer or guardian removes a student before a planned interview has taken place, the Principal and/or their nominee should contact Child Protection or Victoria Police immediately.
